P R E F A C E

This guide contains descriptions of National Archives microfilm of German World War II U-boat records in U-boat number sequence, a departure from the description in order of filming employed in the preceding German Navy Guide No. 1 and in the familiar series of Guides to German Records Microfilmed in Alexandria, Va.

There are two sound reasons for this departure from precedent. First, unlike the Alexandria approach, ONI microfilming of the German Navy records in London during 1945-47 was done neither in archival-hierarchical nor in PG item number sequence, but in parallel batches on five (sometimes six) cameras, the economical operation of which required constant feeding with the next available records regardless of sequence (see German Navy Guide No. 1, Introduction, p. XII, for a fuller explanation). Second, the predominant approach to research in U-boat records is on the basis of specific U-boat commands and numbered U-boats, and thereunder by date and geographic location. Using this listing sequence, the compiler of this guide has been able to supplement most of the U-boat war journals with references to pertinent materials in other German Navy records, as well as from related U.S. Navy and other American records.

While we believe this system provides a better research tool in these special circumstances, for records of broader scope and complexity, and of less homogeneous arrangement, description in filming sequence accompanied by a separate index may be retained.

INTRODUCTION

This guide describes the records of 889 German submarines or U-boats (Unterseeboote), six related operational commands, and two flotilla headquarters during the Second World War, the bulk of which are reproduced on 147 of the approximately 4,200 rolls of National Archives Microfilm Publication T1022, Records of the German Navy, 1850-1945, Received From the United States Naval History Division. Essentially these records are the war diaries, or journals (Kriegstagebücher, or KTB's), for the operational commands and 810 U-boats covering the period Aug 1939-May 1945. The descriptions have been supplemented by references to related German Navy records reproduced elsewhere on T1022, to records located within other record groups in the custody of the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA), and to original German records currently in the custody of other depositories. The German Navy archives, seized by Allied forces at Castle Tambach near Coburg in April 1945, were transferred by agreement to the British Admiralty for exploitation. In London the records received new file designations according to the British registry system: each record item was assigned a number and prefaced with the designation "PG" (reportedly an abbreviation for "pinched from the Germans"). The U.S. Navy's Office of Naval Intelligence (ONI) microfilmed the great majority of these materials during the period Aug 1945-Jul 1947. In 1955 the Admiralty began the restoration of the German naval records to the Bundesarchiv-Abt. Militärarchiv in Freiburg; the U-boat war journals, however, were not declassified and returned to German custody until 1977. Between 1968 and 1978 the National Archives accessioned the ONI microfilm from the U.S. Navy as microfilm publication T1022; after declassification by the British the U-boat war journals became generally available for research in 1978.

Due to the irregularities in record item arrangement (e.g., multiple use of the same "PG" number for different records, nonsequential filming), the desire to include descriptions of U-boat materials supplemental to war journals, and to facilitate research, the U-boat descriptions are arranged by U-boat number.

Descriptions of those U-boats whose war journals were microfilmed include as headers the "PG" number, T1022 roll number, ONI microfilm number, and the date span of the war journal, followed by the name(s) of commanding officer(s) and a brief description of the war diary's contents. The "PG" number usually lies within the series 30,000-30,999 and is generally followed by a slash and another set of numbers (e.g., "1-13") indicating the number of component parts of the war journal; each number normally describes one war cruise while the last number usually represents an appendix of collected radio communications and torpedo-firing reports. The description includes such information as the submarine's operational areas, crew casualties, special missions (e.g., landing of agents, minelaying), claimed sinkings of Allied warships, the recovery of survivors of sunken ships or downed planes, and the U-boat's fate. For the 79 U-boats that lack war diaries but for which other materials have been identified, the descriptions merely specify the pertinent records and summarize their contents.

No materials whatever have been identified for 300 German U-boats commissioned into service before the end of the war. Most of these were submarines that never left training duties or became operational only after the beginning of 1945. These have been omitted from the guide, but are listed on page XVIII. Many other U-boat numbers (e.g., U-112 through U-115, U-491 through U-500) were left open and never assigned during the war. No attempt has been made in this guide to identify German midget submarines or manned torpedoes used during the war.

The war journals described are not synonomous with ships' logbooks, but are narratives of combat operations. Training activities and periods in port for layover or repair are generally only summarized; detailed entries are found only for the periods of service at sea. War journal entries include data on sea and metereological conditions, radio communications received and sent, times and duration of submergings, a daily record of distances traveled on the surface and submerged, and all pertinent information concerning combat actions. The amount of detail varies according to the style of the commanding officer, who was responsible for the journal's maintenance. Following the war journal for each completed patrol is an analytical commentary by the Operations Department of the Commander in Chief of Submarines (Befehlshaber der Unterseeboote) or by one of the U-boat theater commands, together with route charts of the patrol; these are often accompanied by radio logs and torpedo-firing reports. The submarine's positions and movements are identified according to the grid-coordinates of the standard German naval chart, rather than latitude and longitude. Mission orders are generally not included, and the accomplishment of such special missions as the landing of agents on enemy coasts is sometimes noted only as "executed" without the nature of the mission being specified. The journals do not include crew lists. For most of the U-boats lost in action before March 1944, the Befehlshaber der Unterseeboote reconconstructed a war journal of the last war cruise on the basis of the radio communications exchanged and subsequent intelligence information on the manner of the boat's loss and the fate of crew members. No attempt was made to fix the exact location of U-boat sinkings. The final date given for the span of a war journal often indicates the last date that communications were transmitted to the U-boat, rather than the actual date of loss. For submarines sunk during the period March 1944-May 1945 such reconstructions are lacking, and the descriptions have drawn upon the war diaries of U-boat operational commands and other German Navy records to indicate known losses.

As this guide essentially describes German Navy records, its descriptions reflect the information available to German authorities at the time. Postwar determinations of U-boat claims and losses have not been included, with the following exception: where U-boats correctly claimed the sinking of Allied warships but could not identify them, the names or numbers of the latter have been added in parentheses. Except for ships of major significance (e.g., "Athenia," "Laconia") and ships from which prisoners were recovered, the names of merchant vessels sunk by U-boats are omitted from the descriptions.

The described records of U-boat operational commands complement the U-boat war journals in two capacities. They furnish a daily review of the operational conduct of the U-boat war, placing the operations of individual submarines in their strategic context and detailing U-boat deployment against Allied convoys. In addition, these records furnish information on the operations and losses of specific U-boats whose war journals are incomplete or missing.

Closely related to the records described in this guide are other German Navy records reproduced on microfilm publication T1022. Where feasible, references to these materials by their "PG" item and T1022 roll numbers have been incorporated into the descriptions. Among the records not so treated are two series of card indexes (record items PG 30989a-b, T1022 rolls 3981-3982) of operational U-boats; though incomplete, these indexes summarize the operational history for the bulk of the German submarine fleet, noting for each U-boat the date of commissioning, commanding officers, dates of war cruises, and claimed successes. These and other materials available on T1022 will be described in future guides to records of the German Navy, as will numerous technical records microfilmed by ONI but not yet converted to T1022 roll numbers. In addition, a number of records of the Headquarters, German Navy High Command (Oberkommando der Kriegsmarine) have been microfilmed as National Archives Microfilm Publication T608 and are described in Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, Va.: Records of Headquarters, German Navy High Command (OKM), No. 37. Information concerning international aspects of U-boat operations is scattered among the records reproduced on microfilm publication T120, Records of the German Foreign Office Received by the Department of State. The records of U-boat operations during World War I are described in Guides to the Microfilmed Records of the German Navy, 1850-1945: No. 1, Records of U-Boats and T-Boats, 1914-18.

Other record groups in NARA custody also contain information regarding U-boat warfare. This guide's descriptions include references to pertinent materials in the following record groups: Records of the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, Record Group (RG) 38; General Records of the Department of State, RG 59; General Records of the Department of the Navy, RG 80; Records of the War Department General and Special Staffs, RG 165; National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records, RG 238; and Records of the Office of the Provost Marshal General, RG 389. In addition to materials related to specific U-boats, RG 38 includes intelligence and operational data on anti-submarine warfare among the records of the Intelligence Division, Naval Attache Reports, and RG 165 includes technical intelligence reports on U-boat equipment and weaponry among the records of the G-2 Division, Military Intelligence Service-Y Branch (MIS-Y). An addendum to the record item descriptions lists additional interrogations recently accessioned by NARA from the U.S. Navy Operational Archives, on page 199.

Several additional record groups include materials of related interest. The Records of the U.S. Strategic Bombing Survey (USSBS), RG 243, contain information on U-boat construction, the effectiveness of Allied bombing of submarine shipyards, and a compilation of U-boat numbers, names of commanders, and individual U-boat fates (See European War Series, 100d). Summaries of U.S. Army Air Force operations against German submarines are located among the Records of the Army Air Forces, RG 18. The Records of the National Security Agency, RG 457, include the summary intelligence reports prepared by the German Navy's signal intelligence service, the B-Dienst, as well as copies of American intercepts of U-boat radio communications, Feb 1941-May 1945 (Summaries of Radio Intelligence, German Navy, or SRGN, Series). Information regarding the activities and losses of American merchant shipping in the Atlantic can be found among the Records of the War Shipping Administration, RG 248, and the Records of the U.S. Coast Guard, RG 26. The Special Archives Division of the National Archives and Records Administration has custody of photographs and motion pictures pertaining to U-boat warfare from these and other record groups.

Additional documentation of this topic is scattered among the holdings of several other depositories. Where such materials have been identified as pertinent for individual submarines, they have been incorporated into the descriptions; original records recovered from U-505, for example, are in the custody of the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry, the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress, and the Operational Archives, Naval Historical Center, Washington Navy Yard. For general information, the records of U.S. Navy antisubmarine operations remain in the custody of the Operational Archives, Naval Historical Center, Washington Navy Yard, Washington, DC. Equivalent records for the Royal Navy are located with the Naval Historical Branch, Ministry of Defence, London, England, and the Public Record Office, London (Kew), England. The records of the operations of Canadian, South African, French, and Soviet forces against German submarines will be found in the appropriate archival depositories for those states.

Some U-boat war journals were inadvertently omitted or were unavailable for filming at the time of ONI's microfilming. These, together with a small amount of U-boat records captured by the U.S. Navy and never incorporated within the PG registry, have been microfilmed by the National Archives as rolls 4185-4188 of microfilm publication T1022. Unlike the material filmed by ONI, rolls 4185-4188 include frame numbers and preliminary data sheets for each item. In addition to records of specific U-boats, these records include standing orders and instructions and procedural manuals issued by Doenitz to his U-boat commanders.

The scope of the material covered precludes comprehensive indexing of the information contained in the descriptions. Indexes have therefore been prepared only for the names of commanding officers of U-boats described, the names or designations of over 200 Allied and Axis vessels, and a selection of topics. The index terms were derived from the descriptive material and have been supplemented with "see also" references, cross-references, and explanatory subheadings. The indexes can be found immediately following the instructions for their use on page 202.

KRIEGSTAGEBUCH (KTB)

DES FÜHRERS/BEFEHLSHABERS DER UNTERSEEBOOTE (FdU/BdU)

FdU/BdU: Kapt.z.S. und Kommodore (later Konteradmiral, Vizeadmiral, Admiral, und Grossadmiral) Karl Doenitz. From Jan 1936 to Aug 1939 the Commander of Submarines (Führer der Unterseeboote, or FdU) served within the German Navy's Fleet Command, subordinated to the Commander in Chief, Fleet (Flottenchef). On Aug 23, 1939, with the outbreak of hostilities imminent, Doenitz established two subordinate theater commands, FdU West and FdU Ost, to direct operations in the North Sea/Atlantic Ocean and the Baltic Sea, respectively. Doenitz himself occupied the post of FdU Ost concurrently with his original position, now redesignated FdU(Skl) to denote the command's direct subordination to the Operations Division of the Naval War Staff (Operationsabteilung/Seekriegsleitung, or 1/Skl). On Aug 31, 1939, Doenitz yielded concurrent command of FdU Ost and assumed it for FdU West, holding that post until its dissolution on Jul 31, 1940. The Naval War Staff elevated Doenitz's command title on Sep 19, 1939, to Commander in Chief of Submarines (Befehlshaber der Unterseeboote, or BdU), equal in flag rank to the Commander in Chief, Fleet. The BdU exercised operational command of all U-boats engaged in combat operations in the North Sea and the Atlantic and Indian Oceans throughout the war, as well as in the western Mediterranean through November 1941. During the war Doenitz activated subordinate theater commands to direct U-boat operations in the Mediterranean (FdU Italien, later redesignated FdU Mittelmeer), in Arctic waters (FdU Norwegen), and off southeastern Norway (FdU Mitte). Doenitz's promotion to Supreme Commander in Chief of the Navy (Oberbefehlshaber der Kriegsmarine) on Jan 30, 1943, did not alter his status as BdU, though the operational conduct of U-boat warfare thereafter devolved upon the Operations Department of BdU. In March 1943 this department was incorporated within the Naval War Staff as the Submarine Operations Division (Unterseebootsführungsabteilung/Seekriegsleitung, or 2/Skl BdU Op.) under Konteradmiral Eberhard Godt.

The war journal (Kriegstagebuch, or KTB) began as a daily narrative summary of U-boat operations, claimed successes, losses, intelligence reports, perceived lessons in tactics and equipment, organizational matters, and discussions of legal and strategic issues. Beginning on Jul 1, 1940, the KTB listed the general locations (by geographic area) of U-boats at the start of each semimonthly period; from Nov 15, 1940, submarine locations were specified according to the grid-coordinates of the standard German naval chart. On Nov 1, 1941, the KTB was reorganized into the format that it retained through Jan 1945, in which each day's entry covered (1) U-boat locations; (2) aerial reconnaissance results; (3) reports of Allied movements and activities, including signal intelligence assessments; (4) current operations, including losses of individual submarines; (5) reported successes; and (6) general observations. Appendixes to the KTB included operational orders for specific missions and (beginning Jan 1942) monthly summaries of U-boat losses. Each KTB was signed by Doenitz through Jan 15, 1943, thereafter, by Konteradmiral Godt of the BdU Operations Department. No KTB entries after Jan 15, 1945, have been identified.

KTB DES FÜHRERS DER UNTERSEEBOOTE ITALIEN/MITTELMEER

FdU Italien/Mittelmeer: Korv.Kapt. Oehrn (Dec 8, 1941-Mar 16, 1942), Kont.Adm. Kreisch (Mar 16, 1942-Jan 25, 1944), Kapt.z.S. Hartmann (Jan 25-Sep 7, 1944). On Dec 8, 1941, the German Naval Command Italy (Deutsches Marinekommando Italien) established the post of Commander of Submarines attached to Commander in Chief, German Naval Command Italy (Führer der Unterseeboote beim Befehlshaber des Deutschen Marinekommandos Italien, or FdU Italien), with responsibility for the combat operations of U-boats stationed in the Mediterranean, which from September through November 1941 operated under the direct command of BdU. FdU Italien was responsible to the German Naval Command Italy for operational aspects and to the BdU for administrative concerns. On Aug 16, 1943, the command was redesignated Commander of Submarines Mediterranean (FdU Mittelmeer) and its headquarters was transferred from Rome, Italy, to Toulon, France (transferred again Apr 3, 1944, to Aix-en-Provence). Its constituent combat units were the 29th U-boat Flotilla (29. U.-Flottille) and the 23d U-boat Flotilla (23. U.-Flottille); the latter eventually merged with the 29. U.-Flottille. FdU Mittelmeer continued in existence until Sep 7, 1944, but by Aug 20, 1944, had surrendered operational authority over the remaining U-boats in the eastern Mediterranean to Commanding Admiral, Aegean Sea (Kommandierender Admiral Aegaeis) for the remainder of their service.

The KTB's daily format, as established and followed from Jan 1, 1942, covered (1) U-boat dispositions, according to grid-coordinates of the standard German naval chart (after May 1, 1943, this was supplemented by listings of U-boats in port); (2) aerial reconnaissance missions; (3) reports of enemy activities, including signal intelligence; (4) current U-boat operations; (5) claimed sinkings and U-boat losses; and (6) general information, including assessments of Allied intentions, records of conferences with other German and Italian commands, and reports of air attacks on submarine bases. After May 1, 1943, summaries of operations, claimed sinkings, and losses were appended to each month's KTB. The KTB for the period Aug 1-Sep 7, 1944, was lost in the wake of the Allied invasion of southern France; FdU Mittelmeer reconstructed it with a narrative summary in PG 30937. No KTB entries for the period Sep 1-Oct 15, 1943, have been identified, though operational orders for this period are reproduced in PG 33331 (T1022 roll 3103) and related operational charts are located in PG 33376 (T1022 roll 2099). Reports of the operations of the remaining U-boats in the eastern Mediterranean from Aug 22 through Oct 6, 1944, are located among the records of Kommandierender Admiral, Aegaeis, PG 46123 (T1022 rolls 2585-2586) and PG 46098 (roll 2570). A selection of the topics covered by the KTB includes the Allied invasions of North Africa (PG 30928), Sicily (PG 30932), and Anzio (PG 30934); the use of Schnorchel equipment (PG 30936); and the conversion of Italian submarines to German service (PG 30937). In addition to the KTB, several files created by the FdU Italien/Mittelmeer concerning U-boat operations are also described below.

Related records located elsewhere among the German Navy records filmed in T1022 include operational orders in PG 33331 (roll 3103), reports and radio communications of operations, PG's 32448-32450 (roll 1763), and operational charts, PG's 33370-33377 (rolls 2098-2099).

KTB DES FÜHRERS DER UNTERSEEBOOTE NORWEGEN

FdU Norwegen: Kapt.z.S. Peters, Freg.Kapt. Reinhard Suhren (from May 21, 1944). On Jan 18, 1943, the post of Commander of Submarines Norway (Führer der Unterseeboote Norwegen, or FdU Norwegen), became operational with responsibility for U-boat operations in Arctic waters directed primarily against Allied convoys en route to the northern USSR ports and Soviet shipping along the Arctic coast. Before this time the Admiral, Northern Waters (Admiral Nordmeer) exercised operational command of U-boats in this theater, though on occasion Naval Group North (Marinegruppenkommando Nord) temporarily assumed tactical direction. Based at Narvik, FdU Norwegen's constituent units included the 11. and 13. U.-Flottillen. On its own request the command was redesignated Commander of Submarines, Northern Waters (FdU Nordmeer) on Oct 26, 1944. Though no war journals after Oct 15, 1944, have been identified, FdU Nordmeer continued to operate through the end of the war.

The KTB's daily format covered: (1) positions of U-boats as of 0800 hours, with identifications of those submarines arriving, departing, or on return passage to port; (2) aerial reconnaissance results; (3) reports on enemy activities from various intelligence sources, including signal intelligence; (4) current U-boat operations, including significant radio communications, special missions (e.g., minelaying and establishment of weather stations) carried out, and presumed losses of U-boats; (5) claimed sinkings; and (6) general comments or situation assessments. Appendixes to each semimonthly KTB include operational orders and summary briefs (Kurzberichte) for each war cruise by a submarine. All position references follow the grid-coordinate system of the standard German naval chart. From Mar 16 through May 15, 1944, the KTB included information for Admiral Nordmeer as well, and daily entries were revised in their arrangement, though not in substance.

The war journals for Jul 16-31, 1944, and Sep 16-30, 1944, are missing, apparently lost during the war; PG 31096 ("Zusammenstellung der ein- und ausgehenden Funksprüche an die U-Boote des FdU Norwegen in Ermangelung eines Kriegstagebuches für die Zeit vom 16.-31.7.1944 und 16.-30.9.1944"), apparently intended as a replacement, was not microfilmed but is available in the Bundesarchiv-Abt. Militärarchiv (Freiburg) as item RM 89/16. Detailed information on the operations of U-boats in Arctic waters from Dec 1, 1941 through Jan 15, 1943 (including operations against Convoy PQ-17, Jul 1942), can be found in the KTB of Admiral Nordmeer, PG's 35188-35216 (T1022 rolls 3995-3997) and the KTB Marinegruppenkommando Nord, PG's 34846-34875 (rolls 3946-3948, 3950, 2245, 3970). Report of U-boat operations under FdU Nordmeer from mid-October 1944 into April 1945 are located in the KTB of 1./Seekriegsleitung, PG's 32082-32084 (rolls 1691-1693), 34425-34426 (rolls 1755-1756), and 31739-31740 (roll 1995), as well as PG's 31752 (roll 3900) and 31810-d (roll 3384).

In addition to reports on anticonvoy and minelaying operations scattered throughout these records, the KTB includes information on the establishment and operations of German weather stations in the Arctic region (PG's 31835, 31837, 31844-31845, 31859-31860), including an account of a combat engagement with

KTB DES FÜHRERS DER UNTERSEEBOOTE WEST

FdU West: Korv.Kapt. Ibbeken (Aug 18-31, 1939), Kapt.z.S. und Kommodore Karl Doenitz (Aug 31, 1939-Jul 31, 1940). On Aug 18, 1939 the Commander of Submarines (FÜhrer der Unterseeboote, or FdU) established the post of Commander of Submarines West (FdU West) to exercise command of U-boats operating in the North Sea, the English Channel, and British coastal waters; the command became operational at Wilhelmshaven on Aug 23, 1939. Eight days later Doenitz assumed direct command of FdU West, which he maintained concurrently with his post as FdU (later BdU) until FdU West's dissolution on Jul 31, 1940. Throughout this period FdU West's operational authority was apparently restricted to the older, smaller models of submarines (Types IIA-C) with limited range. On Jul 6, 1942, the office of FdU West was reconstituted under Korv.Kapt. Rossing, but it was limited to administrative and disciplinary functions and U-boat activities in port and the inshore areas. No records for this headquarters have been identified.

The war journal's daily format consisted of a narrative summary of U-boat operations, planned missions, claimed sinkings, and known losses; maps and compilations of significant radio communications were sometimes appended. There are no KTB entries from Apr 1 through May 6, 1940, when the operations of FdU West were combined with those of BdU and the relevant information was entered in the latter's KTB. FdU West's distinctive operations resumed May 7, 1940, and continued through July, when the North Sea lost its operational significance and the smaller U-boats with ocean-going capabilities were redeployed in the Atlantic.

Topics covered by the KTB include: minelaying operations in British coastal waters (PG's 30900-30901, 30903-30910, 30912); the sinking of the British battleship HMS ROYAL OAK (PG's 30902-30903); operations of British submarines in the North Sea and the Helgoland Bight (PG's 30900-30901, 30905, 30908,30910, 30912-30913); German U-boat participation in a planned fleet action (codenamed "Nordmark"), Feb 1940 (PG's 30909-30911); the circumstances and significance of the losses of U-16 (PG 30903), U-21 (PG 30913), and U-13 (PG 30916); and U-boat operations to interfere with the Dunkirk evacuation, May 1940 (PG 30915).

A report of FdU West's reactivation and duties in July 1942 is reproduced in PG 36677 (T1022 roll 2151).

KTB DES FÜHRERS DER UNTERSEEBOOTE OST

FdU Ost: Kapt.z.S. und Kommodore Karl Doenitz (Aug 18-31, 1939), Freg.Kapt. Schomburg (Aug 31-Sep 19, 1939). On Aug 18, 1939, the Commander of Submarines (Führer der Unterseeboote, or FdU) established the post of Commander of Submarines East (Führer der Unterseeboote Ost, or FdU Ost) at Swinemünde with responsibility for U-boat operations in the Baltic Sea in the event of hostilities with Poland; Doenitz occupied the office concurrently with his duties as FdU. With the movement of Polish warships out of the Baltic just before war's outbreak, Doenitz yielded command of FdU Ost to Freg.Kapt. Schomburg on Aug 31, 1939. After this date FdU Ost was principally engaged in observing enemy vessels passing the Kattegat and combatting Polish submarines until the command's dissolution on Sep 19, 1939.

KTB DES FÜHRERS DER UNTERSEEBOOTE MITTE

FdU Mitte: Kapt.z.S. Schütze (Jun 7-21, 1944), Freg.Kapt. Merten (Jun 21-Jul 4, 1944), Korv.Kapt. Oehrn (Jul 4-Aug 10, 1944). In anticipation of a possible Allied invasion of southern Norway and/or Denmark, the Seekriegsleitung determined on Feb 13, 1944, to maintain a group of centrally positioned U-boats ("Gruppe Mitte") in constant readiness in the North Sea and the Skagerrak; at the time of actual invasion a separate headquarters, Commander of Submarines Center (Führer der Unterseeboote Mitte, or FdU Mitte), would assume command of these units. FdU Mitte became operational at Kiel on Jun 7, 1944, with the U-boats under its command stationed all along the southern and central Norwegian coast. In July 1944 the focus of FdU Mitte's operations shifted to the Baltic, where the command assumed responsibility for U-boat operations against Soviet forces. On Aug 10, 1944, FdU Mitte was disbanded and its duties divided between BdU and Marineoberkommando Ostsee (Navy High Command Baltic).

From Jun 7 through Jul 4, 1944, the war journal consisted of a brief daily narrative summarizing U-boat dispositions and operations; after Jul 4, 1944, each daily entry covered U-boat positions, sighting and intelligence reports of enemy activities, current operations, strategic considerations and planning, and miscellaneous information (organizational matters, U-boat transfers, and personnel matters). The KTB includes much information regarding Allied air attacks on U-boats off the Norwegian coast and the operations of U-boats in the eastern Baltic and the Gulf of Finland against Soviet forces.

A collection of directives and correspondence concerning the establishment, organization, operations, and deactivation of FdU Mitte, Feb-Oct 1944, is reproduced in PG 33342 (T1022 roll 2096).

KTB 1. U.-Flottille. War journal consists of a handwritten narrative summary that records U-boat commissionings, transfers, presumed losses, and departures and arrivals on war cruises for submarines belonging to the 1. U.-Flottille; little substantive information regarding operations, however, is included. The KTB generally records claimed sinkings in gross tonnage by each U-boat returning from patrol, as well as the names of U-boat commanders. KTB entries after Aug 13, 1944, describe in part the participation of flotilla personnel in the ground combat around Brest, Aug-Sep 1944, and note the command's disbandment on Sep 3, 1944. Listings of officer personnel in the 1. U.-Flottille--including staff officers and all officers on board U-boats for Jan 1, Apr 1, and Jul 1, 1943--are reproduced in PG 10543 (T1022 roll 3700).

War journal covers entire operational history of this twice-sunken U-boat. The first part, Aug 21, 1939-Mar 24, 1940, describes patrols in the North Atlantic and the North Sea, Sep and Dec 1939, respectively; minelaying operations off Loch Ewe in the North Minch, Oct 27, 1939, and Jan 21, 1940; and U-31's loss with all hands (and 13 other naval personnel) to British air attack in the Schillig-Reede, Mar 12, 1940. Additional detailed reports on this sinking are located in the BdU KTB for Mar 12, 1940, in PG 30259 (T1022 roll 3971). The boat was raised and recommissioned into service Jul 30, 1940, at which point the KTB resumes to describe a patrol in the North Atlantic, including an engagement with a British submarine, Oct 8, 1940, and U-31's second sinking in the North Atlantic, Nov 7, 1941, with one crewman killed and the remainder captured. The names of 19 survivors in British captivity are located in PG 33325 (T1022 roll 3103).

PG 30030/1-5 3039 T-309-B 1939/08/19-1940/02/14

KTB U-33. Kommandant: Kaptlt. von Dresky. KTB describes U-33's operations west of the Bay of Biscay, Sep 1939, off the North Cannel, Nov 1939, and a minelaying operation in the Bristol Channel, Nov 9, 1939. U-33 was sunk while on another minelaying mission in the Firth of Clyde, Feb 14, 1940, with 23 crewmen killed and 17 captured; a detailed account of her loss through a repatriated prisoner is included. Intercepted British communications concerning her sinking and the names of her crew are located in PG 33325 (T1022 roll 3103).

PG 30031/1-7 3039 T-309-B 1939/08/19-1940/08/03

KTB U-34. Kommandant: Kaptlt. W. Rollmann. In addition to several patrols in the North Atlantic, war journal describes operations off the Norwegian coast, Mar-Apr 1940, and a minelaying operation in Falmouth Bay, Jan 19, 1940; included are accounts of the intact seizure of the steamer "SS Hanonia" as a prize-ship, Sep 24, 1939, and the sinking of the destroyer HMS WHIRLWIND, Jul 5, 1940, and of the submarine HMS SPEARFISH, Aug 1, 1940, with the rescue of the sole survivor of the last as a prisoner. According to the KTB of Marineoberkommando Ostsee, Aug 6, 1943, U-34 was sunk in the Baltic in a collision with another vessel on that date, with the loss of four crewmen (PG 38755, T1022 roll 4043).

PG 30032/1-4 3039 T-309-B 1939/08/21-1939/11/28

KTB U-35. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Werner Lott. KTB describes a war cruise in the English Channel, Sep-Oct 1939, during which U-35 stopped and searched merchant ships in strict adherence to prize and contraband regulations, making provision for the safety of merchant crews (e.g., the removal of the crew of sunken "SS Diamantis" and landing them in neutral Ireland, Oct 3-4, 1939); U-35 was warned by one British seaman of the proximity of a British aircraft carrier, Sep 18. On her second patrol U-35 was sunk in the North Sea by British destroyers Nov 29, 1939, with the entire crew reported captured. The names of the 42 crewmen taken prisoner are located in PG 33325 (T1022 roll 3103).

PG 30033/1-4 2970 T-289 1939/08/31-1939/12/18

KTB U-36. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Fröhlich. War journal describes operations in the North Sea and along the Norwegian coast, Sep 1939, during which U-36 seized intact the Swedish steamer "SS Algeria" as a prize-ship and dispatched her to Kiel, Sep 27, 1939. U-36 was presumed lost with all hands in the North Sea as of Dec 18, 1939, possibly sunk by a British submarine.

PG 30034/1-13 3039-3040 T-309-B,T-310-B 1939/08/19-1941/03/22

KTB U-37. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Schuch, Korv.Kapt. Hartmann (from Sep 25, 1939), Kaptlt. Oehrn (from May 7, 1940), Kaptlt. Clausen (from Oct 24, 1940). In addition to several patrols in the North Atlantic and west of Spain and Portugal, KTB describes a reconnaissance in the Strait of Gibraltar, Oct 23-24, 1939, operations in the western English Channel, May 1940, and off French West Africa, Dec 1940, as well as an unspecified special mission carried out in Donegal Bay, Ireland, Feb 8, 1940 (according to an operational order reproduced in PG 32419, T1022 roll 1818, this involved the landing of two agents). Extracts from the KTB for May 27, 1940, concerning the sinking of the "SS Sheaf Mead" are located in Exhibit GB-192, RG 238. Information concerning U-37's subsequent training activities can be found in a report by the 26. U.-Flottille in PG 30972b (T1022 roll 4076).

KTB U-73. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Rosenbaum, Oblt.z.S. Deckert (from Sep 10, 1942). Through 1941 U-73 operated in the North Atlantic and on May 26-27, 1941, was in the immediate vicinity of the German battleship BISMARCK (on the morning of May 27, U-73 observed the artillery flashes of BISMARCK's final battle). On Jan 14, 1942, the boat broke through the Gibraltar Strait and thereafter operated in the Mediterranean, where she sank the British aircraft carrier HMS EAGLE, Aug 11, 1942, and operated against the Allied invasion fleets off French Algeria, Nov 1942, and Sicily, Aug 1943. U-73 was reported lost in action, Dec 16, 1943, with 16 crewmen killed and 34 captured. Though omitted from the war journal, the KTB of FdU Mittelmeer indicates that U-73 landed an agent on the coast of Algeria, Oct 9-10, 1943 (see appendix to KTB, Oct 1943, in PG 30933, T1022 roll 4184). All KTB entries, though slightly disarranged, are reproduced on roll 2971; a rough radio communications log is reproduced on roll 2972. An interrogation report of U-73's survivors is located in COMINCH file A16-2/EF30 (1943 Secret), RG 80.

KTB U-77. Kommandant: Oblt.z.S. Schonder, Oblt.z.S. Otto Hartmann (from Aug 30, 1942). U-77 operated in the Atlantic until Dec 16, 1941, when (after refueling from supply tanker "Bessel" in Vigo, Spain, Nov 8, 1941) she broke through the Gibraltar Strait and thereafter operated in the Mediterranean. Claimed sinking a British destroyer (HMS GROVE) off Sidi Barani, Jun 12, 1942, and torpedoing other destroyers, Jan 12 and Jul 30, 1942, and an aircraft carrier, Nov 10, 1942. While operating against Allied invasion shipping off Algeria, U-77 lost two crewmen wounded in an air attack, Nov 7, 1942. Severely damaged by air attack in the western Mediterranean, U-77 sank, Mar 29, 1943, with a loss of 38 crewmen missing; 9 survivors were rescued by the Spanish. Information concerning the survivors' repatriation to German custody can be found in the KTB of the German naval attache in Madrid, Mar 28-Apr 4, 1943, in PG 48855, T1022 roll 3013.

KTB U-79. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Kaufmann. Except for operations west of Gibraltar, Aug 1941, U-79 operated in the Atlantic until Oct 5, 1941, when she broke through the Strait of Gibraltar and thereafter operated in the Mediterranean. War journal includes a detailed report of the Gibraltar breakthrough. After severe damage in an encounter with British naval forces, U-79 scuttled herself off Sidi Barani on or about Dec 23, 1941. According to the entry of Jun 6, 1942, in the KTB of FdU Italien, U-79's entire crew of 44 was captured (see PG 30925, on T1022 roll 3381).

No war journals microfilmed. According to the U-boat card indexes reproduced in PG 30989a-b (T1022 rolls 3981-3982), U-80 was commissioned on Apr 8, 1941, under Oblt.z.S. Staats. Information regarding U-80's training activities while assigned to the 24. and 26. U-Flottillen, May 1-Oct 2, 1941, is summarized in a report in PG 30972b (T1022 roll 4076). An appendix to the BdU KTB of Dec 15, 1944, indicates that U-80 was lost to unknown causes in German home waters sometime in Nov 1944, in PG 30360 (T1022 roll 3981).

PG 30165/1-5	2836	T-93-E	1942/02/14-1944/05/24

KTB U-178. Kommandant: Kapt.z.S. Ibbeken, Korv.Kapt. Dommes (from Mar 1, 1943), Kaptlt. Spahr (from Nov 25, 1943). KTB covers U-178's operations off Capetown and in the Indian Ocean, Oct-Dec 1942 and May-Aug 1943; after the latter, U-178 proceeded to the Japanese base at Penang (off Malaya) and docked there until late Nov 1943, when she departed for the return trip; she arrived in France in May 1944. According to the KTB of BdU, U-178 was decommissioned in Bordeaux, Aug 19, 1944 (PG 30353, T1022 roll 4066).

KTB U-179. Kommandant: Korv.Kapt. Sobe. Reconstructed KTB of U-179's only patrol, during which she was presumed lost with all hands while operating off Capetown on or about Oct 15, 1942.

PG 30167/1-6	2836	T-93-E	1942/05/16-1943/09/30

KTB U-180. Kommandant: Korv.Kapt. Musenberg. KTB describes only one long-range patrol off Capetown and in the Indian Ocean, Apr-May 1943, during which U-180 rendezvoused with a Japanese submarine southeast of Madagascar and transferred passengers Subhas Chandra Bose (Indian nationalist leader) and Abid Hasan (Arab nationalist leader), together with a cargo of goods and documents, to the Japanese submarine in return for a gold shipment and torpedoes, Apr 24-27, 1943. The KTB entry of Sep 30, 1943, states that U-180 was decommissioned in Bordeaux on that date. The BdU KTB, however, notes that U-180 departed Bordeaux on Aug 20, 1944, and provides daily estimated positions for her journey en route to Penang until Oct 3, 1944, when U-180 was presumed lost, possibly while still in the Bay of Biscay (PG's 30353-30356, on T1022 roll 4066).

PG 30168/1-3	2885	T-260-A	1942/05/09-1943/10/14

KTB U-181. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Lüth. KTB covers operations off Capetown and Madagascar, Nov-Dec 1942 and May-Sep 1943; during the latter U-181 also operated in the Indian Ocean. War journal also notes the loss of one crewman killed and two wounded in an artillery accident, Apr 11, 1943. Information regarding U-181's subsequent movements can be found in the BdU KTB, Mar 16, 1944-Jan 5, 1945 (covering her journey from La Pallice to Djarkata, Java), in PG's 30343-30362 (T1022 rolls 4065-4066, 3981).

KTB U-213. Kommandant: Oblt.z.S. (later Kaptlt.) von Varendorff. War journal describes three patrols in the North Atlantic. The entry for May 14, 1942, notes the landing of a shore party east of St. John's, Newfoundland; though the nature of the mission is not given, the BdU KTB of May 16, 1942, indicates that an intelligence agent was landed (PG 30307b, T1022 roll 3979). According to the reconstructed KTB of her last patrol, U-213 was presumed lost with all hands as of Aug 1, 1942, while operating against a convoy.

KTB U-214. Kommandant: Oblt.z.S. Reeder, Oblt.z.S. (later Kaptlt.) Ruprecht Stock (from May 7, 1943). KTB includes war cruise in the Caribbean (off Venezuela and Trinidad), Dec 1942-Jan 1943, and minelaying operations in the following areas: off Dakar May-Jun 1943, off Point Manzanillo, Trinidad, Oct 1943, off Casablanca Mar 1944, and in the English Channel, Jun 1944. Also includes accounts of the rescue and capture of a survivor of a sunken British merchant ship, Aug 29, 1942, and the severe wounding of the commanding officer in an air attack, May 7, 1943. Information on U-214's subsequent operations can be found among the entries of the BdU KTB from Jul 22 through Aug 26, 1944, when U-214 was presumed lost while on a minelaying operation in British coastal waters, in PG's 30351-30353 (T1022 roll 4066).

KTB U-215. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Höckner. Reconstructed KTB of U-215's only operational patrol, during which she was presumed lost with all hands while operating off Halifax, Nova Scotia, on or about Jul 8, 1942.

KTB U-216. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Karl Otto Schultz. Reconstructed KTB of U-216's training activities and only patrol, during which she was presumed lost with all hands in the North Atlantic as of Oct 21, 1942; an account of the boat's operations by an injured crewman transferred to U-463 on Oct 6, 1942, is appended.

KTB U-255. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Reche, Oblt.z.S. Harms (from Jun 6, 1943). War journal describes operations in Arctic waters against Allied convoys and Soviet forces, Jun-Sep 1942 and Jan-Oct 1943, including U-255's attacks on Convoy PQ-17, Jul 1942, her rescue of the crew of a downed German flying boat, Aug 17, 1942, and her destruction of Soviet radio installations on Novaya Zemlya in Sep 1942 and Jul-Aug 1943. From Feb through Jun 1944, U-255 operated in the North Atlantic and in the Bay of Biscay, in the course of which she suffered two wounded in an air attack, Mar 11,and claimed the sinking of an enemy destroyer (USS LEOPOLD), Mar 9. According to the BdU KTB, U-255 was decomissioned in St. Nazaire, Aug 19, 1944, and scuttled to avoid capture (see entry of Aug 19 and appendix to entry of Sep 1, 1944, PG's 30353-30354, T1022 roll 4066); according to the KTB of 1./Seekriegsleitung for Apr 16, 1945, however, U-255 was still operational on that date (PG 31740, T1022 roll 1995).

PG 30232/1-6 2937 T-200-D 1941/12/18-1944/10/23

Nov 1943; she was then reconverted to an attack submarine for another patrol in the North Atlantic, Jan-Mar 1944; as a Schnorchel-boat, U-256 transferred from Brest to Bergen, Sep-Oct 1944, and was decommissioned at the latter port, Oct 23, 1944. War journal contains no entries for the periods Sep 4, 1942-Aug 15, 1943, and Mar 23-Aug 10, 1944.

PG 30233/1-6 2937 T-200-D 1942/01/14-1943/09/14

KTB U-257. Kommandant: Oblt.z.S. Rahe. Disarranged KTB describes U-257's three patrols in the North Atlantic and one operation off Freetown and in the Gulf of Guinea, Jul 1943. PG 30233/4-6, constituting the KTB from Feb 13 through Sep 14, 1943, and extracts of the radio communications log, were misfiled and filmed with the war diary of U-258 (PG 30234), immediately following U-257 on roll 2937. Information concerning U-257's subsequent operations can be found among the entries in the BdU KTB for Jan 2-Mar 14, 1944, when U-257 was presumed lost in action in the North Atlantic, in PG's 30338-30342 (T1022 rolls 3981, 4065).

PG 30234/1-6 2937 T-200-D 1942/02/04-1943/05/20

KTB U-258. Kommandant: Oblt.z.S. Mässenhausen (Feb 4, 1942-Jan 10, 1943, Mar 4-May 20, 1943), Oblt.z.S. Koch (Jan 10-Mar 4, 1943). U-258 operated in the North and Central Atlantic throughout the period covered; made abortive attempt to rendezvous with and escort German blockade runner "Hohenfriedburg" in Central Atlantic, Feb 1943. U-258 was presumed lost with all hands in the North Atlantic as of May 21, 1943. KTB has been disarranged by the inclusion of parts of the KTB of U-257 between items PG 30234/2 and 30234/3.

PG 30235/1-3 2937 T-200-D 1942/02/18-1942/11/17

KTB U-259. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Köpke. War journal includes training activities, one patrol in the North Atlantic, Sep-Oct 1942, and a reconstructed KTB of U-259's last patrol in which she broke through the Strait of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean, operating against Allied invasion shipping off French Algeria before being sunk with all hands as of Nov 16, 1942. Additional information on U-259's operations in the Mediterranean can be found in the KTB of FdU Italien, Nov 1942, in PG 30928 (T1022 roll 3382).

KTB U-260. Kommandant: Oblt.z.S. Hubertus Purkhold, Oblt.z.S. Becker (from Feb 28, 1944). KTB describes numerous patrols in the North Atlantic; the last operation described covers U-260's transfer from France to Norway, Sep-Oct 1944, during which the crew suffered from carbon monoxide poisoning due to a defective Schnorchel. References to U-260's later operations can be found in the daily U-boat summaries of Feb 18 and Mar 10 and 13, 1945, when she struck a mine off Ireland and sank, with her crew interned, in PG 31752 (T1022 roll 3900).

a reconnaissance operation off Newfoundland and the Strait of Belle Isle, Sep-Oct 1942, and notes the rescue of two survivors of U-526 outside Lorient, Apr 14, 1943. A reconstruction of her fourth and last patrol indicates that U-513 was sunk on or about Jul 25, 1943, while operating off the southeastern coast of Brazil; 46 of her crew were lost and 7 captured. Interrogations of her survivors and a report of her sinking by U.S. Army aircraft, Jul 19, 1943, can be found in the records of the G-2 (Intelligence) Division (MIS-Y), RG 165.

PG 30552/1-5 3067 T-7-F 1942/04/11-1943/07/10
KTB U-514. Kommandant: Kaptlt. Auffermann. War journal describes training activities (during which one of the ship's officers was accidentally killed on Jun 3, 1942), an operation in the Caribbean (off Barbados, Trinidad, French and British Guianas and the northeastern coast of Brazil), Sep-Oct 1942, and single patrols in the North and Central Atlantic. U-514 was presumed lost with all hands shortly after departing on her fourth patrol, probably in the Bay of Biscay on or about Jul 10, 1943.

KTB U-515. Kommandant: Oblt.z.S. (later Kaptlt.) Henke. In addition to two patrols in the Central Atlantic and west of Gibraltar, KTB describes operations off the coasts of Venezuela, Guyana, and Trinidad, Sep 1942, and off Freetown and in the Gulf of Guinea, Apr-Jun 1943 and Dec 1943. Included are accounts of the claimed sinking of a British cruiser (actually submarine depot ship HMS HECLA), Nov 12, 1942; the sinking of the British troop transport "SS Ceramic," Dec 6-7, 1942; the accidental death of a crewman to a machinegun misfire, Sep 15, 1942; and the recovery of prisoners from the sunken merchantmen "SS Reedpool" (Sep 20, 1942), "SS California Star" (Mar 4, 1943) and "SS Phemius" (Dec 20, 1943). Information regarding U-515's subsequent operations and presumed loss in the Central Atlantic can be found in the BdU KTB, Mar 30-Apr 30, 1944, PG's 30343-30345 (T1022 roll 4065). Personnel data sheets for 44 survivors taken prisoner are located in COMINCH file A16-2(3)/EF30 (Aug 1944, Secret Shelf), RG 80. Interrogations of some individual crewmen are scattered among the records of the G-2 (Intelligence) Division (MIS-Y), RG 165; a report of the commanding officer's death in an escape attempt from a POW camp is located in POW Ops. Class. Dec. 704 (General #2), RG 389.

KTB U-516. Kommandant: Korv.Kapt. Wiebe, Kaptlt. Tillessen (from Jul 6, 1943). KTB describes training activities, a single patrol in the Central Atlantic, and operations in the western Caribbean and off Guyana, Sep-Oct 1942, off Capetown Feb-early Apr 1943, off the coasts of Colombia, Panama, and Central America, Nov-Dec 1943, and off Trinidad and Colombia, Jun-Jul 1944. KTB entries for Jul 24 and Aug 8 and 18, 1944 note the commanding officer's concern that the enemy was fixing his position by monitoring his radio transmissions; these entries have been further annotated by "4./Skl IIb," the Skl staff section responsible for general matters of wireless communications.

War journal describes training activities and four patrols, including an unsuccessful patrol off Cape Hatteras, May 1942, operations off Freetown, Jul 1942, and two war cruises in the North Atlantic. KTB includes accounts of U-582's participation in the search for survivors of the sunken supply ship "Spreewald," Feb 1-3, 1942, and the recovery of two survivors of the sunken steamer "Stella Lykes" as prisoners, Jul 27, 1942. On her second patrol in the North Atlantic U-582 was presumed lost with all hands in action against a convoy as of Oct 7, 1942.

No war journals microfilmed. According to the U-boat card indexes reproduced in PG 30989a-b (T1022 roll 3982), U-583 was commissioned into service Aug 11, 1941, under Oblt.z.S. Heinrich Ratsch and was assigned to the 5. U.-Flottille. An account of U-583's sinking after a collision with U-153 during night training exercises in the Baltic Sea Nov 15, 1941 is located in the U-153 KTB of that date.

KTB describes operations in Arctic waters against Allied and Soviet forces, Jan-Feb 1942, several patrols in the North Atlantic, and operations off Florida and Cape Hatteras, Jun 1942; includes an account of the sinking of a Soviet submarine ("M-175") on Jan 10, 1942, and notes the carrying out of a "special operation" on Jun 17, 1942 (the BdU KTB for that date specifies that this involved the landing of agents on the Florida coast); in PG 30308/b (T1022 roll 3980). Record item PG 30616/10, containing the war journal for Feb 12-May 24, 1943, was misfiled and omitted from the initial filming; it has now been microfilmed and added at the end of T1022 roll 4188. The reconstructed KTB and the BdU KTB for Oct 11, 1943 (PG 30333, T1022 roll 3980), indicate that on her last patrol, U-584 carried a team of B-Dienst specialists to monitor Allied convoy radio signals. U-584 was presumed lost with all hands as of Nov 7, 1943; an account of her loss is contained in the KTB of U-91 for Oct 31, 1943. PG 30616/12 consists only of appendixes to the KTB.

ADDENDUM: ADDITIONAL INTERROGATIONS

Since the preparation of the individual U-boat descriptions, the U.S. Navy Operational Archives has offered to the National Archives for accessioning the interrogation reports of U-boat survivors captured by the U.S. Navy during World War II. These supplement the interrogations already described and will be available for research as part of RG 38 sometime in 1987. The records contain information on the following U-boats:

INTRODUCTION TO THE INDEXES

Because of the volume of data presented in this guide, only the descriptive register of individual U-boats has been indexed. The descriptions of the various U-boat operational commands and flotilla headquarters should be consulted for additional references to some of the same specific subjects, including geographic areas, and for references to specific dates of relevance for individual events (e.g., the BdU KTB for Mar-Apr 1940 for information regarding U-boat operations in support of the German invasion of Norway). Three separate indexes are provided in place of a comprehensive index. All index terms are derived from the descriptive register rather than directly from the records, and reference only the U-boat number pertaining to the indexed item.

The first index consists of a computer-printed index of the last names, ranks, and U-boats commanded for 970 U-boat captains. Where given names appear in the war journals, these have been included; given names have also been added where necessary to differentiate among commanding officers with the same family name, using W. Lohmann and H. H. Hildebrand's Die deutsche Kriegsmarine 1939-1945 (1964) as the authority. For purposes of this automated index, the diphthong is used instead of the umlaut (e.g., Brönner becomes Bruenner). For the same reason, no surname is indexed under "von." Abbreviations of rank follow those given on page XII, though periods have been omitted.

The second index lists 237 Axis and Allied warships and merchant vessels mentioned in the descriptions. The majority of these constitute Allied warships sunk by German U-boats. All warships' names are capitalized; for Allied warships the national prefix (e.g., "HMS," "USS") follows the proper name. Merchant vessels' names appear in lower case, with the usual prefix "SS" (for "steamship") omitted.

The third index represents a selection of subjects derived from the U-boat descriptions. Emphasis has been placed on geographic areas of U-boat operations and specific types of activities (e.g., minelaying, landing of intelligence agents), supplemented by the names of individuals (other than submarine commanders) and general topics (e.g., radio intelligence). Main keywords or headings are capitalized; subheadings, referring to significant subjects under the main keyword or qualifying the main heading, appear in lower case. The index is supplemented by references, cross-references, and explanatory subheadings. Topics of a very general nature (e.g., "North Atlantic," "U-boat Sinkings") have been altogether omitted. Geographical terms are transliterated into the English rendition found in the Columbia Lippincott Gazetteer of the World, 1970.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES

The National Archives and Records Administration is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes or other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there is no single model that would be applicable to all records. The National Archives recommends a sequence moving from the smallest (record item) to the largest (depository) citation element. The initial citation should consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item; file unit; subseries, series title; originating office, administrative units of which that office is a part; collection or record group number and title; and depository. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication and roll numbers, as well as frame number, if present.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. In contrast to the German records microfilmed at Alexandria, Va., the German Navy records microfilmed in London by the U.S. Navy did not include frame numbers and were frequently filmed on the basis of availability rather than arrangement. The examples below suggest a form of initial and subsequent citations for documents from these records.

Initial citation:

"Kriegstagebuch des Befehlshabers der Unterseeboote" (hereafter KTB/BdU), entry for June 6, 1944, record item PG 30348; National Archives Microfilm Publication T1022, Records of the German Navy, 1850-1945, Received from the U.S. Naval History Division, roll 4065; National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941- , Record Group 242.

Subsequent citations:

CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES
(As of 1985)

The National Archives holds over 30,000 rolls of microfilm reproducing captured German and related records as described below. Reference copies of the microfilm may be consulted without charge in the microfilm reading room of the National Archives Building at Eighth and Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC, during the hours of 8:45 a.m. to 9:45 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 8:45 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Saturday. Specific rolls or entire series, except those containing privileged material ("R" rolls), may be ordered at the current quoted price per roll by writing to the National Archives and Records Administration, NEPS, Washington, DC 20408. (See Instructions for Ordering Microfilm, p. 263.)

A history of the American and Allied, public and private, projects in which these records were created or assembled, exploited, described, and microfilmed is to be found in: Captured German and Related Records, A National Archives Conference, ed. Robert Wolfe (Athens, Ohio: Ohio University Press, 1974), XIX and 279 pp. (for sale at NEPS address given above).

For more detailed reference information on subject matter, please write to: Modern Military Headquarters Branch, Military Archives Division, National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION OF SEIZED ENEMY RECORDS, 1941- , RG 242

The microfilm publications in this record group are listed below according to the place where the filming was done. The original paper records have been returned to the country of origin. A relatively small number of these papers may have been of private origin, but the fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission may be held liable for infringement of property rights.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION OF WORLD WAR II WAR CRIMES RECORDS, RG 238

In Europe, the United States conducted war crimes trials under three jurisdictions: that of the International Military Tribunal (IMT) (RG 238), that of the U.S. military tribunals at Nuernberg (RG 238), and that of the U.S. Army courts (RG 153 & RG 338). The records of the trials at Nuernberg generally consist of transcripts of the proceedings, prosecution and defense exhibits, interrogation records, document books and court papers including official court files, minute books, order and judgment books and clemency petitions. In addition, the Nuernberg trial records include the prosecution document series from which most of the prosecution exhibits and some defense exhibits were drawn.

Records of International Military Tribunal

The nearly complete transcript of proceedings of the IMT at Nuernberg and most of the documentary evidence have been published in Trial of the Major War Criminals Before the International Military Tribunal (Nuernberg, 1947), 42 vols. A NARA publication--PI 21, Preliminary Inventory of the Records of the United States Counsel for the Prosecution of Axis Criminality--is also available. NARA also holds motion pictures, photographs, and sound recordings of the IMT proceedings at Nuernberg.

War crimes trials records for Germany were also collected or generated by the U.S. 3d and 7th Armies initially, then by special war crimes sections of the Judge Advocate General (JAG), Europe. Because reports and other materials were sent to Washington, some of the same material is in RG 53, Records of the Judge Advocate General (Army), and this material has proven to be useful source for filling in gaps discovered in the RG 338 records; it is frequently found in the microfilmed publications listed below, although the great bulk of the records filmed come from RG 338 in every case.
